U. S. Proposes Broadcast Exchange With Russians

Regular Swap Of Uncensored Material Urged

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—The United States urged Russia today to allow Soviet and American leaders to speak directly to each other's people in a series of uncensored radio and television programs.

The State Department made the proposal to Soviet Ambassador Georgi Zarubin in a formal note as part of its program of promoting more East-West contacts.

"The purpose of these broadcasts would be to promote a freer exchange of information and ideas on world developments," the note explained.

Move Aimed At Johnson

Apart from its foreign policy aim, the State Department move also seemed partly directed at pacifying Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.). Johnson proposed precisely such an exchange of Soviet-American broadcasts and telecasts in a New York speech June 8. He said it would replace the "Iron Curtain" with an "open curtain."

Secretary of State Dulles, in commenting on Johnson's proposal three days later, in effect charged the senator with "adopting" as his own an administration proposal presented to the Russians at a foreign ministers conference in Geneva in November 1955. Dulles welcomed Johnson's "endorsement" of the idea.

84-Word Note

Dulles' comment is known to have irritated Johnson. Senate colleagues promptly praised Johnson for the proposal and some questioned whether Dulles had been pressing the suggestion for 17 months, as he contended.

The State Department, in an unusual move to give maximum publicity to the formal American offer, made it public four hours after it was made to Zarubin by Ambassador William S. B. Lacy. A Dulles aide in charge of East-West contacts.

The 84-word note proposed Russia make "an agreement in principle at an early date" for a regular exchange of such programs.

The number, how long each would last, and the broadcast channels, as well as "certain technical problems" could be agreed upon later, the note said.

Thousands See Four Airmen Die

NORFOLK, Va., June 24 (AP)—Four Navy airmen were killed today before the eyes of thousands of swimmers when two attack bombers collided and plunged into Chesapeake Bay.

The two North American A-1J Savage bombers from the Norfolk Naval Air Station were on routine training flights when they collided at about 500 feet above a mile and a half off Ocean View Park fishing pier.

Identification of the dead was withheld by the Navy pending notification of next of kin.

Missile Order Challenge Defended By Nickerson

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., June 24 (AP)—Army Col. John C. Nickerson Jr., 41, said bitterly tonight—on the eve of his court-martial—that it would have been "disloyal" if he had not challenged Secretary of Defense Wilson's order limiting the range of Army guided missiles.

House Receives Bill To Create Security Office

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—Two House members introduced legislation today to set up a central security office to coordinate the government employees' loyalty program.

This was the first congressional action on a report, made public over the weekend, by a bipartisan commission which recommended a thorough overhaul of the federal loyalty-security system.

Reps. Murray (D-Tenn.) and Rees (R-Kan.) introduced a bill to set up an independent central security office which would, among other things, set forth administrative procedures for the hearing and review of loyalty cases.

Murray is chairman and Rees is the ranking Republican on the House Office and Civil Service Committee.

Their bill would carry out the recommendation of the commission, headed by Los Angeles lawyer Lloyd Wright, that such a central office be established with advisory functions only. Final decisions would rest with government agency heads.

Congressional sentiment in general seemed to favor uniform loyalty—security procedures as recommended by the Wright group, though sharp misgivings were voiced about some portions of the report.

Sen. McNamara (D-Mich.) said he saw "elements of police state control" in recommendation such as those favoring the legalization of wiretapping in security cases and tighter passport and immigration controls.

Red China Guns Pound Quemoy

Biggest Battle Of Vest Pocket War

TAIPEI, Formosa, June 24 (AP)—Red China's artillerymen and Nationalist gunners guarding the Quemoy Islands fought today their biggest battle of a vest pocket war now in its third year.

Reviving speculation that the Communists might attempt invasion, mainland batteries hurled shell after shell at Quemoy and its sister islands, fortified strongholds in Formosa Strait a few thousand yards offshore.

Veteran Nationalist troops returned the fire vigorously from gun emplacements dotting the reddish croplands and white hills of Quemoy, home to 50,000 Nationalist farmers and fishermen.

The Nationalist Defense Ministry announced the Reds fired a total of 9,395 shells in an exchange that lasted from 10:30 a.m. until midnight. Details on the Nationalist counterfire, usually more than measure for measure, were not disclosed.

There was no announcement as to casualties.

The biggest previous duel came when the Communist gunners launched their campaign against the offshore islands with more than 6,000 shells Sept. 3, 1954. Light exchanges had broken out last week. The Nationalists counted 1,641 shells in a Red bombardment Saturday.

Whatever the purpose of the Peiping government, the action came at a time when Red China was showing concern at developments on a front farther north, Korea. Both the Communist Chinese and Communist North Koreans reacted bitterly to the U.N. Command's decision to move modern American weapons to South Korea's defenders.

The weapons are to counter what the U.N. Command called flagrant and repeated violations by the Communists of an armistice ban on the introduction of new arms.

As always when the tempo of Red gunfire picks up, there was talk among the followers of Chiang Kai-shek that the Communists might be softening up the offshore islands as a prelude to invasion. A strike by combat units at the offshore islands could prompt American intervention if it was interpreted as the start of a drive on Formosa, 100 miles to the East.

Still awaited in South Korea was a flight of U. S. F100 faster-than-sound jets, expected any day as the first stage of the arms modernization program announced by the United Nations Command last Friday at Panmunjom.

Deputy Defense Minister Kim Jong Kap said 19 Communist MIG-type fighters were sighted by South Korean army units this morning near the demilitarized zone in the Kumhwa area, 90 miles northeast of Seoul.

The flight was unusual and perhaps "designed to lower the morale of our troops," Kim said. He reported the ground units did not make clear whether the Communists flew over the zone or beyond it before heading home.

A U. S. spokesman at the Osan Air Base and a U. N. Command spokesman said they had received no report of any Communist violation of South Korea's air space.

A high Allied source reported Saturday a flight of the F100 Super Sabres, their number undisclosed, would land today at Osan, 35 miles south of Seoul. Reporters and cameramen for a half dozen American news, radio and television services waited in vain for them at Osan. The latest word was the arrival apparently postponed "to avoid undue publicity."

Anti-Obscene Laws Upheld By High Court

Decides Obscenity Outside Protection Of 1st Amendment

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—The Supreme Court today armed federal and state authorities with powerful weapons to war on obscene literature.

In one of a series of rulings, the court specifically held that obscenity is outside the First Amendment's protection for free speech and press.

The decisions upheld:

1. The federal law prohibiting the mailing of indecent literature.
2. A California law which makes it an offense for any person to write, compose, publish, sell, keep for sale, advertise or distribute any book which is "obscene or indecent."
3. A New York law which permits issuance of injunctions by judges against distribution and sale of publications they find to be obscene.

The court specifically held that obscenity is outside the First Amendment's protection for free speech and press.

Striptease Ban Upheld

In addition, the court affirmed a decision by the New Jersey Supreme Court upholding an "anti-striptease" law enacted by the City of Newark.

Justice Brennan, who spoke for the majority in the federal and California cases, said it was the first time the question of whether obscenity falls within the area protected by the First Amendment had ever been squarely presented to the high court.

He said, however, that expressions found in numerous of its opinions have "always assumed that obscenity is not protected by the freedoms of speech and press."

Brennan said it is apparent that the unconditional phrasing of the First Amendment was not intended to protect every utterance.

Contemporaneous Evidence

This phrasing, he wrote, did not prevent the court from concluding that libelous utterances were not within the area of constitutionally protected speech.

While obscenity law was not fully developed as libel law at the time of the adoption of the First Amendment, Brennan said, "there is sufficient contemporaneous evidence to show that obscenity, too, was outside the protection intended for speech and press."

Brennan said that all ideas having even the slightest redeeming social importance—even ideas hateful to the prevailing climate of public opinion—have the full protection of the guarantees "unless excludable because they encroach upon the limited area of more important interests."

Boy Dies As Result Of Playful Punch

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 24 (AP)—Manuel Crowder, 8, of Parkin, Ark., died in a hospital today of internal bleeding that followed a playful punch by a friend.

Manuel was wrestling with a playmate outside his home last night when he was struck in the stomach. Hemorrhaging started immediately. He was admitted to Baptist Hospital at 11 p.m. and died shortly after midnight.

The youth's physician said the boy suffered from hemophilia, a condition in which the blood doesn't have the "fiber" necessary to make it clot.

Tribunal Orders Contempt Convictions Reconsidered

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—The contempt of Congress conviction of John T. Watkins, a labor leader of Rock Island, Ill., who refused to identify for the House committee on Un-American Activities his one-time Communist associates in the labor movement.

Also cited were two other decisions, one reversing outright the Smith Act convictions of five California Communist leaders and ordering new trials for nine others, another overturning the conviction in New Hampshire of Paul H. Sweezy.

The Court of Appeals here was directed to reconsider contempt convictions involving Harry Sacher, New York lawyer who has appeared frequently for the defense in Communist cases; Abram Flaxer, former president of the defunct United Public Workers of America; and Lloyd Barenblatt, who formerly taught at the University of Michigan and Vassar College. Prison sentences and fines were meted out to all three.

Scientists 95% Of Way Toward 'Clean' H-Bomb

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—A pleased group of American scientists reported today they have gone about 95 per cent of the way toward a "clean" hydrogen bomb—one virtually free of radioactive fallout.

In warfare this would mean the awful power of an H-bomb could be confined to the target area, with a minimum of risk to civilian populations elsewhere in the country under attack and its neighbors.

Three University of California physicists visited the White House today with Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission to tell President Eisenhower about the progress of their work.

Strauss told newsmen afterward that the scientists have gone beyond the point reported by Eisenhower June 5 when he said fallout had been reduced by nine-tenths from that of the earliest H-bombs.

"By the time he made that statement, we had gone about half the way to ten-tenths," the AEC chief said.

Dr. Ernest O. Lawrence, one of the physicists, nodded when asked whether it is now possible to make a clean H-bomb.

The other scientists were Dr. Mark M. Mills and Dr. Edward Teller, who work with Lawrence in the University of California's radiation laboratory.

They all seemed to be gratified with the reported success in harnessing the death and destruction of nuclear weapons. When the H-bomb was first developed military men said the radioactive cloud from its explosion could drift across continents, endangering people thousands of miles away.

Security restrictions prevented a full discussion of what the scientists have accomplished.

When a reporter asked whether this country is not actually making clean fusion weapons, Strauss intervened, saying the answer was classified, or secret.

Confidence Vote Won By French Premier

PARIS, June 24 (AP)—Premier Maurice Bourges-Maunoury won his first major parliamentary victory tonight. The National Assembly by a vote of confidence solidly endorsed his program of higher taxes to save the franc and pay for the war on Algerian rebels.

An unofficial tally of the vote on the 42-year-old Premier's taxation and fiscal bill was 272-190. Bourges-Maunoury took office less than two weeks ago at the head of the coalition of middle-roads and Socialists.

Tax Cut Plan Keyed To Job Shift Outlined

'Task Force' Group To Study Transfer Of Functions Urged

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., June 24 (AP)—President Eisenhower tonight challenged the states to open the way for federal tax cuts by taking over some costly programs now financed wholly or partly by the national government.

The President put his proposal squarely up to the governors of the states in a major address prepared for delivery at their annual conference.

Speaking in this historic American community, Eisenhower cautioned that in recent times "more and more rapidly the pendulum of power has swung from our states to the central government."

'Task Force For Action'

He proposed creation of "a task force for action"—a joint committee charged with these three responsibilities: "1. To designate functions which the states are ready and willing to assume and finance that are now performed or financed wholly or in part by the federal government;

"2. To recommend the federal and state revenue adjustments required to enable the states to assume such functions; and

"3. To identify functions and responsibilities likely to require state or federal attention in the future and to recommend the level of state effort, or federal effort, or both, that will be needed to assure effective action."

Eisenhower mentioned such projects as slum clearance and disaster relief as examples of programs which he feels can be financed perhaps wholly—or at least to the extent of a bigger share than at present—by the states. The federal government now carries a big portion of the cost of such projects.

Starter Suggested

The President said the federal-state committee which he proposed be created should specify, among other things, "the amounts by which federal taxes should be reduced," and the "increases in state revenues needed to support the transferred functions."

He suggested that as a starter, the committee might well concentrate on a single project "and pair it with a specific federal tax or tax amount." Then he added: "This effort presupposes that federal taxes would be cut more than states taxes would be raised to support the transferred functions."

Jackie Cooper Clocked At 145 In Desert Chase

MOJAVE, Calif., June 24 (AP)—Highway patrolmen say actor Jackie Cooper, with his 10-year-old son as a passenger, hit 145 m.p.h. in his $12,000 sports car during a desert chase.

One patrol car blew a tire at 115 m.p.h. and another tore the tread off a tire at 120 before Cooper finally was stopped at a roadblock, officers said.

Cooper, driving a Mercedes-Benz, said he was unaware that he was being chased. He was cited for reckless driving and speeding and ordered to appear before July 8 in the Mojave Court.

Bills To Protect Secret Files Of FBI Introduced

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—Six senators and two House members today introduced bills aimed at curbing access to secret FBI files in the light of a recent Supreme Court decision.

The measures were virtually identical. One of the sponsors, Rep. Keating (R-N.Y.), said Atty. Gen. Brownell "has authorized me to state that he approves of the terms of this measure."

Justice Department lawyers have been working hard on legislation to take the sting, as they regard it, out of the court's June 3 decision in favor of alleged Communist Clinton E. Jencks.

The court ruled in that case that the defense in a criminal case may examine original reports made to the FBI by witnesses for the government.

Many critics in Congress and elsewhere have contended this would let defendants in cases involving subversion, among others, prattle through "raw" or unvalued files at random—something FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover long has vigorously opposed.

Powerful Nuclear Device Is Exploded From Huge Balloon

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev., June 24 (AP)—A tremendous roar and a flash that was blinding even in daylight followed the explosion today of the most powerful nuclear device fired so far in the current series of test.

The Atomic Energy Commission touched off the weapon—the first to be fired in daylight—at 6:30 a.m. from a huge helium-filled plastic balloon suspended 700 feet above the desert.

Observers said it was like a "second sunrise."

It was the 50th detonation since the United States began experimenting here and the fifth in the current series. The blast was heard as a rumble at Tonopah, Nev., and Bishop, Calif., both about 100 miles away, and also at Reno, Nev., some 300 miles distant.

Scientists said the force of the explosion was so great at the control point building, 14 miles away that swinging doors at the entrance ways were torn from their

Man Who Lost Legal Gamble Wins Reprieve

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—Everett D. Green, who took a legal gamble with death and lost in lower courts here, won a new reprieve today—the Supreme Court called for reargument of his appeal.

Approximately 35 U. S. Air Force and Navy aircraft took part in the experiments and some 1,000 military observers watched the detonation from trenches about 4,500 yards from Ground Zero.

Exact size of the blast was not revealed but the AEC announced earlier that it would be more than 20 milotons. This would exceed the force of the atom bombs dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

The AEC said 81 diagnostic and effects experiments and 33 major military experiments were conducted in connection with today's blast. Included were biomedical and fabric studies involving more than 900 pigs and other studies with a small number of rabbits and dogs. Bomb shelters and food also figured in the testing.

Ike Still Opposes Postal Pay Boost

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—President Eisenhower and Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey repeated their warnings today against increasing government costs by raising the pay of postal workers.

Humphrey said, "We just cannot have increases everywhere all along the line as is now going on and not get ourselves into a great deal of trouble."

He testified before the House Post Office Committee.

Chairman Murray (D-Tenn.) read into the record a letter, dated June 14, from Eisenhower telling Murray he could not recommend the pay increases.

Bandits Flee With $85,000

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—Two gunmen held up a pair of wholesale grocery messengers here today and escaped with $85,734, of which $11,500 was in cash and the rest checks.

The robbery occurred as the messengers emerged from a store in a market area at the edge of the down business district, in Northeast Washington.

The messengers, Tino Lazzari, 28, and Harry McCall, 64, told police they had the money in a leather briefcase and were headed for a bank to deposit it.

McCall said one of the bandits stepped up to their car window just as Lazzari had gotten in behind the wheel. Brandishing a gun he reached inside and grabbed the briefcase. McCall himself, walking with a game leg, was just approaching the car.

A police lookout broadcast for the gunmen described them as Negroes. One was about 36 years old, 5 feet 4 inches and weighing about 150 pounds, sporting a pencil line mustache and wearing a blue shirt and coat. The other was described as a light-skinned colored man.

They fled toward Baltimore. Police said the bandits abandoned their get-away car on Bladensburg Road near the District of Columbia line, and got into another car apparently stationed there by an accomplice, a white man.

Annapolis Election Suit Filed By Loser

ANNAPOLIS, June 24 (AP)—Thomas M. Schifanella, who was defeated as a candidate for city councilman last month, has filed suit to contest the election.

Schifanella, a Republican, was defeated in the third ward race for alderman by Democrat F. Elmer Gelhaus.

Schifanella filed his suit against "Elmer E. Gelhaus," but he said today that this was a secretarial error and will be amended to read "F. Elmer Gelhaus," the Democratic opponent.

The suit, which cites four counts of corrupt election practices, charges Gelhaus with electioneering within 100 feet of the polls, "intimidating" voters and committing "other unlawful, wrongful acts during and prior to" the election.

Americans Drank 125 Billion Cups Of Coffee In 1956

NEW YORK, June 24 (AP)—Americans gulped more than 125 billion cups of coffee in 1956, an all-time record, the Pan-American Coffee Bureau said today.

Purchases by U.S. consumers of roasted coffee, both regular and instant, totaled $2,100,000,000, the bureau said.

Other facts disclosed in the bureau's annual review:

About 60 per cent of the regular coffee bought by U.S. housewives is in cans.

Pacific Coast families drink the most coffee, Southern ones the least.

More than 70 per cent of the nation's factory, store and office workers are allowed at least one coffee break a day.

Baltimore City Tax On Industry Is Ruled Valid

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 24 (AP)—The Court of Appeals upheld today the validity of Baltimore's new tax on manufacturers.

The court affirmed a ruling by Judge S. Ralph Warnken in Baltimore Circuit Court declaring valid a city ordinance which removed the tax exemption on manufacturers' machinery and inventories.

Today's decision is expected to cost Baltimore industrialists an estimated 11 million dollars in taxes they previously had escaped.

If the city had been denied ability to impose the tax, the Baltimore property tax would have to go up from $2.88 to $3.34 for each $100 of assessment.

Mayor D'Alessandro of Baltimore hailed the decision and "meanwhile urged the City Council to refrain from any action with respect to modification of the tax until sufficient experience has been gained to present a clear picture of the results under the existing legislation."

The city's tax is 100 per cent on both machinery and stock. All of the counties except Anne Arundel impose the tax, but none to the limit.

Tax Cut Plan

"The elimination of the federal overhead—stopping, in other words, the 'freight charges' on money being hauled from the state to Washington and back—a bill, I remind you, that is always collected in full—would save the American taxpayer a tidy sum."

Calling the alternatives "clear and simple," Eisenhower put them this way: "Either—by removing barriers to effective and responsive government, by overhauling taxing and fiscal systems, by better cooperation by all echelons of government, the states can regain and preserve their traditional responsibilities and rights—"

"Or—by inadequate action or by failure to act, the states can create new vacuums into which the federal government will plunge ever more deeply, impelled by popular pressures and transient political expedients."

"I propose that we choose the first alternative and I propose that here in this historic spot we dedicate ourselves to making it work!"

Reaction of the governors to Eisenhower's proposal for a task force study of returning federal functions to the states generally followed party lines. Republicans praised the proposal but Democrats viewed it with skepticism.

Byrd Declares Inflation Places Nation In Peril

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) today attacked administration claims of high national prosperity and said "inflation is threatening our national life."

A noted economist, Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, blamed labor unions, business and the farmers, rather than the government, for postwar inflation.

Their views were the highlights of talks before a meeting of the National Citizens Committee to Curb Inflation.

Byrd said the government is not in a sound economic condition and declared: "To my mind inflation is as dangerous to the nation's economic life as the H-bomb is to its physical life."

The only solution, he said, "is to get the people back home to understand these fundamentals: What the government spends, the people pay for; the national debt is too big; inflation is threatening our national life, and taxes are too high."

"When the time comes that the government is supporting the people instead of the people supporting the government, then we're destroyed and the free world is destroyed with us."

Red China Warns Its Internal Critics Not To Expect Hungary-Type Revolt

HONG KONG, June 24 (AP)—Red China has warned its internal "rightist" critics against expecting any Hungarian-type revolution in China. In addition, it has indicted many of its critics as "extremists" who take too much advantage of Mao Tze-tung's statement that all have a right to criticize the regime.

With these warnings came a hint that the critics themselves are beginning to fear they have stuck out their necks too far.

The official Peiping Communist newspaper, People's Daily, lashed out at the "capitalists" in Red China, saying the regime would counterattack, but not immediately.

It admitted there were skeptics, even among the Communists, with regard to Mao's decree that there should be wide "freedom of discussion" throughout the country. The editorial appeared yesterday at the peak of the cheng feng (rectification) campaign, in which Communist-manipulated organizations now are crying for the scalps of the critics.

The Red Chinese press is publishing typical criticisms to show its readers how far some of the "extremists" have gone in interpreting Mao's decree. One of these, Gen. Lung Yun, former Yunnan Province warlord who turned Communist in 1949 and became a deputy chairman of Red China's National Defense Council, went so far as to say Soviet imperialism in some respects was worse than American.

Gen. Lung apparently felt he had been tricked by the rectification drive. According to People's Daily, Lung said at one of the many forums called to discuss criticism he was "depressed because most of the speakers were reserved... and most statements were made in a conciliatory tone."

He said: "In several large movements in the past it was the Communist party 'rectifying' other people, and there is now a fear that perhaps the Communist party is merely putting other people to a test, seeking out their views so that they may be 'rectified' in the future."

"The Communist party is the ruling party. How can it thus go back on its own words and play such a huge joke by asking everybody to bare their minds and then come around to 'rectify' them?"

People's Daily disclosed this in reporting on a meeting of the Kuomintang Revolutionary Committee, a group made up of defectors from Chiang Kai-shek's Kuomintang who joined the Reds. At the June 18 session, the committee turned sharply on the regime's critics. China's eight non-Communist parties are leading a counterattack against critics of the regime in their ranks, possibly for fear official action might wipe out the parties completely.

McKeldin Deplores Failure Of Highway Safety Legislation

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., June 24 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin of Maryland continued today to chastise his 1957 legislature for having failed to pass laws suggested for improving highway safety.

He had criticized a House committee during the session and at its end sent down a message expressing "distress at the lack of any substantial improvements in our traffic safety laws."

Gov. McKeldin renewed his criticism today at a panel discussion on highways at the National Governors' Conference.

"Maryland's greatest handicap in the effort to bar unsafe drivers from the highways is contained in our obsolete system of permanent driver registration," he said.

The governor had criticized the House Judiciary Committee for killing a bill to have drivers submit to examinations every three years.

The committee, however, worked out with an official of the Department of Motor Vehicles a bill for a renewal of all licenses next year. The House passed the bill. It died in the Senate after the same official spoke against it.

M'Keldin Offers Education Plan

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., June 24 (AP)—Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland called today for a clear definition of the role to be played in public education by each unit of government — local, state and federal.

He suggested this breakdown: Local governments should be responsible for primary and secondary schooling.

The state should concentrate on college and university education. And the federal government should assist in financing and coordinating "the great research projects of national and international interest."

McKeldin gave his views of a prepared speech during a roundtable discussion on education at the National Governors' Conference which began here today.

The Maryland governor said he has not opposed the federal administration's proposal to provide emergency aid for school construction.

Holdup Is Like Silent Picture

BALTIMORE, June 24 (AP)—It was like a silent movie.

Ralph Pomerantz was making up a bank deposit today on the meat block in his store. A Negro walked in, pulled out a gun, aimed it at Pomerantz, picked up $651 and ran out.

Pomerantz told police that he and the bandit didn't exchange a word.

Auto Injuries Fatal

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., June 24 (AP)—Lloyd J. Miller of 13010 Delmar Ave. Baltimore died today of injuries suffered last week in motor vehicle accident.

Miller's car collided last Friday with a truck. He died in Harford Memorial Hospital.

Miller was the 245th person to die this year in highway accidents in Maryland. There were 229 killed at the same time last year.

GENOA, Italy, June 24 (AP)—Italy proudly laid down yesterday the keel of a new ocean liner—the Leonardo da Vinci, successor to the sunken Andrea Doria.

Governor Saves Negro From Execution

ANNAPOLIS, June 24 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin today spared the life of a Baltimore Negro four days before he was scheduled to die for the fatal shooting of another Negro.

McKeldin commuted the sentence of 34-year-old Kelly Briley to life imprisonment.

"Under the circumstances of this case," the governor said, a life term will serve "the ends of justice and the protection of an enlightened public interest."

Briley is the 12th person McKeldin has saved from execution during his two terms in office.

Briley was convicted by a Baltimore Criminal Court jury of first degree murder in the fatal shooting of Jessie Mills on Jan. 21, 1956, in what McKeldin said was "the aftermath of a brawl" at a dance in a hall on McCulloh Street in Baltimore.

There was testimony in the lower court that the quarrel developed between Briley and several other men because Briley had been "dancing with Gussie," wife of one of the men.

The State contended Briley went home to get a pistol after being knocked partially through a window at the dance hall. Mills was shot at close range as he left the hall.

McKeldin said "the evidence in this case clearly shows that there were several assaults on Briley" and that "Briley was not the aggressor in the ... (initial) disputes and offered no resistance."

The governor said Briley, who had been drinking "much more than usual," was "escorted" from the hall by about six men, including Mills.

"There is every indication that his exit should more euphemistically be termed the 'bum's rush' and that it probably was accompanied by unnecessary force and violence, in which the deceased was a prominent participant," McKeldin said.

Briley claimed he came back to the hall to get his overcoat and brought a gun along to protect himself from further beatings. He said he met Mills and two other men leaving the hall and fired the gun when they again assaulted him.

Dope Hunter Lands In Jail

HAGERSTOWN, June 24 (AP)—A man with a badge and a diploma from a correspondence school in New York got 30 days in jail today for trying to pass himself off as a private detective.

Just trying to help the law, Librado Rosado Rivero, 42-year-old Puerto Rican, told the magistrate. City police testified before Magistrate Paul Ottinger that Rivero had been representing himself as a private detective trying to find out from people on the street where to buy marihuana.

Rivero, who described himself as a house painter and said he'd been in the city six months, sported the badge and diploma before Magistrate Ottinger. The defendant labored through broken English in describing his efforts to get an okay through State Police.

State Police wrote back denying him any official "Dick Tracy" status and outlined the requirements, Rivero explained.

When the magistrate asked him what he would have done if he had turned up any marihuana peddlers, he replied he "would have brought it to the law."

"You wouldn't mind being a stool pigeon?" Ottinger asked.

"No," said Rivero.

Rivero went to jail when he couldn't pay a $100 fine.

BALTIMORE, June 24 (AP)—The grand jury will be asked tomorrow to indict James De Michaels, 47-year-old itinerant, for twice holding up the Westport branch of the Union Trust Co.

De Michaels allegedly took $12,829 from the bank on May 31 and on June 14 went back for $8,611. Police said he told them that fellow hoboes took most of the first loot from him.

Winning Talk

In dating, a wrong word here and there can be a girl's undoing. Actually, it is wiser to appear stupid, boys agree, than to be the girl that furthers verbal indigestion.

Since conversation is a habit, it's up to you to make it a pleasant one. The trick is to always remember that conversation is a friendly game. Also, that it is played by more than one and according to rule.

Take the time to brush up on your conversational do's and don'ts for winning talk. Here are a few ideas:

Tips On Talk

1. Be pleasant. Avoid highly emotional subjects. Whatever else you may or may not be con-versationally, be an ambassador of harmony.

2. Respect the opinions of others and never be too abrupt with your own. Never be sarcastic or make the flat statement "You are wrong." Preface, rather, your beliefs in the subject with "I could be wrong, but . . ." or "There is truth in what you say, but will you allow me to express my thought . . ."

3. Avoid all questions of a personal nature. Such crudeness is inexcusable. The best conversationalists can talk all evening about impersonal subjects and be most stimulating.

4. Don't dwell on gloomy or morbid subjects.

5. Do tell jokes on yourself.

6. Don't complain, especially around men.

Zoning Board Member Takes Oath Of Office

One member of the new LaVale Zoning Board has been sworn into office, and the attorney to the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors gave the "green light" to the other two members to take their oaths.

Leslie J. Clark, who ran second in the referendum conducted last week in District 29, was given the oath of office by Joseph E. Boden, Clerk of Circuit Court.

The other two members, John J. Rowan and C. Arthur Lancaster, who tied for the top position, are awaiting an opinion from Attorney General C. Ferdinand Sybert as to the method of breaking the deadlock.

The bill creating zoning in District 29 provided for the candidate receiving the most votes to be chairman and serve until 1962. The second place candidate serves until 1960, while Clark will be on the board until the 1958 election.

John M. Robb, attorney to the election supervisors, has asked the attorney general to make a ruling as to the legal method of breaking the tie.

In his letter, Robb noted that Rowan and Lancaster are willing to settle it by tossing a coin.

He also added that Lancaster is willing to step aside, give the chairmanship to Rowan, and take the three-year term, instead of five years.

Robb said, in his opinion there would be no objections to the two men being sworn into office while awaiting the decision of the attorney general.

Marine Reserve Begins Second Week Of Camp

The members of the Sixth Special Infantry Company, Marine Corps Reserve yesterday settled down to the second of two weeks phases of small unit combat training at Cherry Point, N. C., Marine Air Station.

Afternoons are spent at the rifle range, where the reservists have been firing the M-1 rifle, and at the annual requalification firing last week. 81 per cent of the company had scores of at least 190 out of a possible 230.

Mornings are spent at classes on the many general military subjects the Marine is required to master, or in the North Carolina hinterlands where the company is running through various phases of small unit combat training at Cherry Point.

Tax Discount Deadline This Weekend

Allegany County taxpayers have until Saturday at noon to obtain the five per cent discount if the five per cent discount of their county taxes if they pay at the Court House and until Sunday at midnight if they send in their payment by mail.

J. Wallace Close, collector for District 1 at the Court House, said slightly over $900,000 has been paid by taxpayers so far. He said his office will be open to noon Saturday and those who mail in their payments can obtain the five per cent discount if the mail is postmarked prior to midnight Sunday.

In July the discount rate drops to four per cent and to three per cent in August. After that the county charges interest. There is no discount on property taxes of the state, which are collected by the county. This amounts to only a small percentage of the overall total in taxes collected.

Residents Of Parson Told To Boil Water

Supply Termed Unsafe By State

PARSONS — J. H. Millar, director of the Division of Sanitary Engineering of the State Department of Health, met with Mayor John Kenney, Recorder and Chlorinator Tracy L. Nestor and members of council recently to discuss problems concerning the town water supply which has been declared unsafe by the State Health Department.

Nestor advised all residents to boil water to be used for drinking purposes. He reported that samples of the local supply are sent to the State Department of Health each month, and that only two times—July 6, 1954 and Dec. 29, 1954—have the reports returned from the department showing the water to be unsafe.

He said the reports, as received from the State Department of Health, are always posted in the hall at the town building. The last sample was sent to Charleston May 29, 1957, and was reported to be satisfactory.

According to W. Del Roy Harner, city attorney, the state cannot force a municipality to install a filtration plant, but the State Department of Health does have the authority to place signs at the entrance to any town or city where it is felt proper precaution to protect the residents of a municipality are not taken.

It has been estimated that a filtration plant for Parsons would cost between $75,000 and $100,000 and before bonds could be sold to pay for the plant a special election would have to be held so residents of the town could voice their wishes in the matter.

City Plans To Clear Its Books On Frederick Street Project

The Mayor and Council acted on several financial transactions yesterday including one which is intended to "clear the books" of the final $47,000 payment to the State Roads Commission for the Frederick Street improvement project.

The order, described by Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz as one under which the city "can get its gasoline tax money and balance out the account" provides for City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson to issue the check for $47,000 to the SRC, providing that the SRC, at the time of delivery, gives a check to the city for a like amount from its credits in the state gasoline tax account.

Finan Will Brief City Officials On Petitions

The Mayor and Council will be briefed by City Attorney Thomas B. Finan sometime this week on court action to determine legality of certain names on petitions calling for a referendum on a $500,000 bond issue.

Also to be discussed, it is understood, will be another referendum request on a city proposal to hike its tax limitation from $1.25 to $1.50.

The official report on petitions for the tax limitation ballot submitted by City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery, shows 2,200 names identical with registration records; 1,197 not registered; 101 appear to be in duplicate; 952 have different addresses; and 522 are listed in other categories. Total number of names on the petitions was 5,002.

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz said that according to the figures, there are not enough verified names to cause a referendum. Under home rule, 20 percent of the qualified city voters (2,552) must sign petitions for a referendum.

Ullery's report was filed for consideration of council.

City Adopts Ordinance On Trailers

Areas To Be Set By Planning Unit

Existing trailer homes not in violation of present city ordinances will be allowed to remain within the city limits under a new law enacted yesterday by the Mayor and Council.

The new ordinance would prohibit house trailers in the city limits in the future except in areas to be designated as "trailer courts" by the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan said a copy of the ordinance will be sent to the commission which will make its recommendation.

Under questioning from Mayor Roy W. Eves, Finan repeated that the ordinance "is not retroactive." That is, existing house trailers, which do not violate city ordinances (zoning in particular) will not be removed from their locations, it was pointed out.

The vote was 4-0. Finance Commissioner John J. Long is on vacation.

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan said his entire statement had not been used in the original accounts of Mayor and Council deliberations on the subject. He pointed out that people who live in house trailers have buying power as well as every one else and added it is a trend in this country to provide places such as trailer courts for them.

Council had in its possession and made reference to a petition signed by 60 residents of Maplewood in which it was asked that any city action not apply to two families living in trailers in that area. Under terms of the new law, these would not be affected.

Council set July 29 as the hearing date on an ordinance to close Schlund Avenue from its intersection with Frederick Street to the intersection with Rosewood Street in "Welsh Home Addition." The closing has been asked by Frank A. Stakem, et al.

Held over for one week was final action on the closing of an unnamed alley south from Sanford Street and east from Gleason Street. Commissioners appointed to assess property damage, if any, are Robert Young, John Workmeister and George Tedrick.

Work Slated On Gas Lines Of District

Dravo Corporation of Pittsburgh has been awarded a contract by the Cumberland and Allegany Gas Company to construct 16 measuring and regulation stations on gas lines in this section.

C. C. Robbins, district manager of the utility, said the corporation will fabricate and install the piping for these 16 units.

The corporation has leased a parking lot site from Celanese Corporation across Route 220 from Amcelle Plant to set up its working facilities.

The units will be equipped with orifice and displacement meters, high and low pressure regulators and gas scrubbers. The latter are used to clean the gas of impurities.

Robbins said the installation of this new equipment is designed to enable his company to maintain a better check and control on gas flows in this section.

Information obtained from the new facilities can be used to help determine specific gas load growth areas and to predict future gas requirements.

The amount of the contract is $77,047, and the deadline for the work to be completed is February 28.

Dravo's work site will include a storage shed, air compressor, welding machines, and other necessary equipment. This site is not permanent, as it will abandon the lot once work is completed.

Robbins reported Dravo is expected to begin installing several of the measuring and regulating devices early next month.

Several pipefitters last week were assigned to the project from Local 489, Steamfitters and Plumbers Union, here.

Storm Sewer Planned In Hill Top Drive Area

An order calling for the construction of a storm sewer in the Hill Top Drive area will be submitted for action of the Mayor and Council Monday.

Prepared by Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz, the order calls for the construction of a storm sewer from the intersection of Montgomery Avenue and Hill Top Drive to Baker Street.

The order specifies that costs are to be charged to the Street and Sewer bond fund, as far as available, and the balance from the sewer appropriation.

Mr. Buchholtz said the plans for the sewer are on file in the Engineering Department.

The order was prepared yesterday afternoon after Mr. Buchholtz, with City Engineer C. R. Nuzum, held an on-the-site meeting with property owners affected.

Rate citizens of the area demanded relief from the Mayor and Council yesterday as the result of water overflows in recent heavy rains.

About a dozen residents of the area appeared before Council to cite among other things that front and back yards had been washed away; odors as a result of the overflow make it impossible for them to enjoy their porches; shrubbery has died; and a condition of an alley where children of the area play has become hazardous because of residue from the storms.

Recent examples cited were the storms earlier this month and in 1955 but it was pointed out that the same condition has existed for the past 10 years.

Buchholtz said that having seen the condition, he did not believe he could live under it himself. And he said he believed council should make some effort to provide for relief in its next budget since there is not sufficient money in the present Street Department budget to pay for it.

Buchholtz said past practice of directing the same sewer into four of five manholes has been a "needless" expense and said he was "greatly surprised" when he found this condition existed. Council, he added, should try to find some money to correct the condition.

Hansrote, who lives at 519 Hill Top Drive, submitted photographs showing recent damage as well as that in 1955. He said he did not think the solution would cost

$13,000 as has been previously sued and Mrs. Hansrote said they didn't in trying to appease the taxpayer. The $13,000 figure mentioned came as a result of a survey made by the engineering department in 1955. City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum said that the times several were shouting their previous city administrations, a present combined sewer was said the city was going to be practice which one termed "stup-Continued on Page 12, Col. 3

Education Idea: Do It Yourself

"Liberal Adult Education" is the theme of a brochure issued by the Fund for Adult Education, and it contains a series of lectures given at Estes Park, Colo. One notable contribution is that of Dr. Laurence F. Kenney, professor of Bible and religion and associate in adult education at Southwestern College, Memphis. He raises the novel point that education, as a whole, seriously needs the "do-it-yourself" element, and he explains that this means "reflective thinking coupled with action, based on that reflection." If this seems to be a familiar thought, he points to the fact that "no one else can do this for us."

"Disharmony with human beings is expressed in man's aloneness which occurs even in the midst of teeming people," he says. "His relation to those around him tends to be exclusively utilitarian or superficial, leaving a haunting sense of dissatisfaction." Then he says, "In his isolation, he seeks to establish relationships on a false basis, such as domination or submission."

Here it is pertinent to inject one of the thoughts of Harold R. McKinnon, past president of the American Bar Association, who says Americans are unconsciously slipping into a totalitarian collectivist pattern in which domination and submission are integral parts of the philosophy of some prominent educators.

Dr. Kinney's second point is that "even man's physical environment has become an object of conquest rather than identifying himself with and participating in the common life and reality around him." He indicates that specialism has gone to extremes in some spheres of action, with too much tendency to delegate public functions to a few individuals. There, of course, he refers to the danger of totalitarianism about which McKinnon is concerned.

Summer Investigations

As soon as the most pressing bills are out of the way, Congressional committees will enter upon a competition of investigations. While none of them will be as sensational as the McCarthy-Army Hearings, none will be as fruitless of results. There are not likely to be many spite investigations, although the Democrats do hope to find something which will help them in the 1958 Congressional campaign.

Few of the investigations will deal with those bad boys and girls whom we call Communists. The Supreme Court has made it very difficult to do much about them and they will continue to prove a nuisance to law-enforcement officials. The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee and the House Un-American Activities Committee have lost their strongest weapon in the Watkins Case Decision which seems to me as bad law as it is bad logic.

Most of the investigations will have to do with money and business, an exceedingly complicated field, in which the investigator is as likely to pluck thistles as roses, depending upon his knowledge of economics and his capacity to grasp the essentials of business operations.

In a broader sense, these investigations may lead to the discovery that we have, during the past four or five years, moved out of the capitalist system, except for a minority of self-employed individuals, and moved into a form of Fascism in which the principal partners are government, big business and big labor unionism. These three partners seem interchangeable. The big businessman takes over control of government departments; when government officials and top military men seek a respite from service, they are absorbed by big business; and the top labor leaders have close relations with both groups, relationships which often transcend their responsibilities to their members.

Nobody designed this structure. It came into existence, to what degree, we do not yet know, largely as a result of the defeat of Harry Truman's populism which he called "The Fair Deal." Truman had no social philosopher to help him, whereas President Eisenhower has at least three, all of them out of Roosevelt's "New Deal" which was a bridge between the older system and one not yet developed.

Eisenhower's three philosophers, I would name in the order of their significance, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, Sidney Weinberg, the Wall Street banker who always bobs up in odd places, and General Lucius Clay who is as much a social thinker as a military officer and a big businessman. These three swing a great deal of weight in the social thinking of the Eisenhower Administration.

Other students of the problem may choose other philosophers. Some will place great emphasis on the role of George Humphrey, the Secretary of the Treasury, who is probably the country's leading factor in iron and coal and whose tie-up with Canada's growth is of major significance.

Put it as you please, investigation, well conducted and honestly studied, will establish that there is a tendency in this country toward monopoly; it will disclose an extraordinary role played by bankers and insurance companies; and it will disclose that the law has taken on some new characteristics, that part of the practice of law is really "contracting," that is negotiating quids pro quos, if one is permitted pig Latin. That is, the principal service of these laws is neither drawing up papers nor trying cases, but to know people, and to do favors freely, so that deals may be consummated to evade or avoid the law with the benediction of the government. In an older generation, such transactions were regarded as crooked; today, whatever helps a man pay fewer taxes is regarded as legitimate.

Curiously, Herbert Hoover recognized even prior to 1929 this menace. As Professor William A. Williams put it:

"... It is fundamentally wrong to view Hoover either as an astute man trying to save the Old Order, or as an isolationist. He was crying desperately to rationalize the New Order, and treating its dangerous myopia, before it suffered the fate of individualistic capitalism."

Two wars, a depression, the relationship with Soviet Russia, and foreign aid measured not in sentimental terms but as an economic factor, made some fundamental changes in the American order. We can see the effects of the changes, but to understand them, the sort of data a Congressional committee can dig up would be helpful.

High Court Should Be Accountable To People

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Now that the Supreme Court has transformed itself into what is being termed "another legislative body," a movement has started to bring about the election of the high court justice by the people. It would require a Constitutional Amendment.

The idea, of course, is not novel. This happens to be the custom in the several states with few exceptions. Thirty-six states elect their highest court judges at the polls, four states elect their top judges by vote of the state legislature, and only eight states follow the federal custom of appointment by the executive with the consent of the legislature.

Since the Supreme Court of the United States has set itself up as having the right to tell Congress how to run its committees and the Executive departments that they must retain employees they don't like, the question of how the Supreme Court itself shall be held accountable for its acts has arisen. This has happened several times before in American history.

The late President Franklin D. Roosevelt thought the answer to an arbitrary or capricious court was to increase the number of justices so he could appoint those who would decide cases as he thought they should be decided. This scheme was called "court-packing." It required legislation and was frowned upon by Congress in 1937. Former President Theodore Roosevelt, as a candidate for the Presidency in 1912, urged that there be a system of "recall of judicial decision" so the people, by referendum, could affirm or reverse decisions, especially in state courts.

Today the Supreme Court of the United States has rendered so many conflicting and confusing decisions that many lawyers throughout the country are perplexed and bewildered. The issue was succinctly stated by a member of the Supreme Court itself.

self, the late Justice Robert H. Jackson, who, in the course of an opinion in 1953, wrote:

"Rightly or wrongly, the belief is widely held by the practicing profession that this court no longer respects impersonal rules of law but is guided in these matters by personal impressions which from time to time may be shared by a majority of justices. Whatever has been intended, this court also has generated an impression . . . that regard for precedents and authorities is obsolete, that words no longer mean what they have always meant to the profession, that the law knows no fixed principles."

For the last 20 years many of the professors of law in the university law schools, particularly in the East, have raised a whole generation of so-called "liberals" who believe that the Supreme Court should make "policy" and that to adhere to historic principles is out of keeping with the spirit of the times. This is the type of thinking which has bred throughout the country a feeling that the court pays more attention to sociology or political science or ideological considerations nowadays than it does to fundamental interpretation of the Constitution and to the enduring principles of jurisprudence.

If, therefore, the Supreme Court is to make "policies," to whom should it be responsible? It now places itself above both the Congress and the Executive, which are themselves accountable to the people. The justices, however, are accountable to no one but themselves. Such an autocracy was never envisioned by the founding fathers when they authorized life tenure for justices. The several states have wisely written into their constitutions that judges must go before the people—sometimes after six-year and sometimes after twelve or fourteen-

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Fifth Amendment to the constitution is a loop-hole in a hosiery factory.

It's been taken oftener than eggs for breakfast. But it's here to stay like a wrinkle in a frown.

This buzzabout abolishing the fifth is as ridiculous as trying to shake your overcoat out of a moth. Every man is considered innocent until his lawyer walks out on him.

We know the Eighteenth Amendment was repealed by a plebiscite of hiccups. But that was as wrong as a two-foot yardstick.

Let's concede by unanimous difference that the fifth is a slipped disc in the thirteen original vertebrae. In law and in checkers you jump on the diagonal.

The slick mouthpieces of the commisters discovered the fifth was as vulnerable as a candy cane. When you make the tail heavier than the kite it's unflyable. And no good on the ground.

We're going to keep rapping away at one paragraph until it takes the place of those silly weather reports over post-office doors. We'll make it monotonous by request.

If the answer tends to incriminate and degrade you that's not the fault of the question.

Secretary Humphrey Has Interests In Steamships Despite His Position

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The law which govern the office of Secretary of the Treasury is quite clear and unequivocal that he must not let his private business get mixed up, even indirectly, with the public interest.

The law states: "No person appointed to the office of Secretary of the Treasury or Treasurer shall directly or indirectly be concerned or interested in carrying on the business of trade or commerce, or be the owner in whole or in part of any sea vessel, or the purchase by himself or another in trust for him, any public lands or other public property, or be concerned in the purchase or disposal of any."

On page 7 of the annual report of the M. A. Hanna Co., in which Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey continues to own a large bloc of stock, is a picture of one of his company's seagoing vessels. The caption beside the picture reads: "Arriving at the Philadelphia unloading docks is the Sept Iles, carrying nearly 30,000 tons of iron ore from Quebec-Labrador."

On page 6 of the same report is a description of the "Hanna-operated Great Lakes fleet of ten bulk cargo vessels," together with a further description of the Hanna ocean fleet — the Californian and the Hawaiian, which are described as "converted C-4's," plus other big vessels.

The reason for the law regarding conflict of interests is obvious. The Secretary of the Treasury operates the Coast Guard which has to do with the safety of these vessels. The C-4's were purchased from the government. Almost everything the Secretary of the Treasury touches, from taxes to shipping, is intimately connected with American business.

The Hanna annual report goes on to tell of vast ore holdings and vast operations of "trade and commerce," in which the Secretary of the Treasury has a direct interest through the retention of his stocks in M. A. Hanna and subsidiaries.

Stocks Zoomed

Some Senators are now concerned over this apparent conflict of interest.

A list of Humphrey stocks recently supplied the Senate Finance Committee shows that he increased his wealth tremendously by retaining his stocks. How much of this was due to over-all inflation, how much to any favoritism, direct or indirect, to his own companies is something some Senators want to investigate.

At any rate, here is how Humphrey's stock zoomed in value in the last four years:

M. A. Hanna Co., the parent company of which he was president, was valued at $240,613,344 on Jan. 1, 1953, just as Humphrey took office. As of March 12, 1957, its value was $359,631,956. Increased value: $119,018,592. Humphrey owns 67,550 shares of class A and class B stock at $76 and $78, or a total of $5,179,700.

Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal—This is the biggest coal company in the world. Its value went from $126,160,704 on Jan. 1, '53, to $368,306,250 on March 12, '57. Total increase: $242,145,546. The Secretary of the Treasury owns 20,000 shares at $56.75 or $1,135,000.

National Steel Corp. is an affiliate of M. A. Hanna, and is the company which Humphrey will head when he leaves the Treasury. Its value zoomed from $374,758,710 when Humphrey took office to $484,962,000, or an increase of $110,203,290. He owns 13,200 shares at $50 or $760,000.

Hanna Coal and Ore — This is the company which controls Iron Ore of Canada and the vast Hanna ore holdings. Hanna Coal and Ore showed the greatest increase of all, jumping from $46,741,500 when Humphrey became Secretary of the Treasury to $441,416,000 on March 12 of this year. Total appreciation: $394,672,500.

Canadian Ore

Secretary Humphrey owns 12,471 shares of Hanna Coal and Ore. This is where he might be most vulnerable to criticism on the charge of mixing business profit with public interest.

On July 31, 1954, Humphrey took time off from his official duties to go to Sept Iles, Quebec, for the opening ceremonies of Iron Ore of Canada. Addressing the crowd he said, "It is a great day. It is the culmination of a dream of 12 years."

On Sept. 9, 1954, it was announced in Ottawa that Humphrey and his Canadian associate, C. D. Howe, would go to Knob Hill to open a power dam to supply power for the Hanna iron mines.

The Hanna company then began to solicit British business.

In October of that same year, C. Reginald Wheeler, head of the British Iron and Steel Corp., Ltd., came to Washington. He had come to the United States to negotiate with a number of American ore companies for shipments to England.

It may have been pure coincidence and there is no evidence that Humphrey had anything to do with it, but immediately after arriving in Washington Wheeler cancelled appointments with other ore companies and signed a contract with Iron Ore of Canada. Gilbert Humphrey and the Secretary's law firm worked out the details. Two members of this law firm, Chapman Rose and Nelson Rose, at various times have held high positions in the Treasury.

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

How would you like to be a mind reader? Or how would you like it if your wife was a mind reader? In that highly amusing play titled "A Visit To A Small Planet," the stranger from the other world can read minds. This he enjoys doing. Especially reading female minds. A professional mind reader once offered to teach me the art. It seemed an attractive offer but I turned it down. I figured if the news got around that I was a mind reader I couldn't get anybody to play poker with me. Besides I am not particularly desirous of knowing too much as to what people are thinking about me. I get enough of that in the mail.

NO PARKING

The "No Parking" signs in Manhattan are being widely and steadily ignored. It is not uncommon to see an automobile parked in front of a fire plug. What New York City needs is a very active "tow away" squad to take care of the parking violators. The London police department has a squad of 80 "tow away" cars. Parking violators there return to find their automobiles gone. And they have a very difficult time getting them back.

ASKING

Queries from clients. Q. Who originated the phrase the "Iron Curtain"? A. Winston Churchill in a speech at Westminster College, Fulton, Mo., on March 5, 1946. Q. Who said, "All the things I like are illegal, immoral or fattening"? I say it was Alexander Woolcott. My wife says it was Dorothy Parker. Who is right? A. You're both wrong. It was Fannie Hurst. Q. Has any major league ballplayer ever been killed by being hit by a pitched ball? Was the pitcher in the case trying to "dust off" the man fatally hit? That is, trying to drive him away from the plate? A. A New York Yankee player named Chapman died after being hit by a pitched ball. It was considered strictly accidental.

ROUNDABOUT

Strolling around lower Broadway, I saw a shop specializing in old phonograph records. This shop boasts that it has 100,000 different recordings dating from 1900 to the present. Also saw a shop bearing sign "Men's Hats Made To Order." I'll bet a made-to-order hat lasts a long time. In another store I saw a window display of over 50 different brands of safety razor blades. One brand was priced at $1 for 100 blades with each blade guaranteed good for four or five shaves.

BLONDES

Clark Gable has a platinum blonde for his leading lady in his latest picture. This, it is claimed, will inspire a revival of the popularity of the platinum blonde shade. That is improbable according to experts on feminine appearance. They say that smart women feel platinum blonde hair makes a woman conspicuous rather than attractive.

WORKING HOURS

What were the best working hours you ever had? For a brief period I worked as a hotel room clerk. I worked a "long day" and a "short day." The long day was from six a. m. to noon. From six p. m. until midnight. The short day was from noon to six p. m. What I liked about these hours was that one day you had the afternoon off and could go to the ball park or races. On the "short" day you could sleep late. Then after working in the afternoon you had the night off. This variety added plenty to the spice of life. Especially for a young fellow.

FIRST BABY

In 1930, a British bride, then 22, made the following fantastic statement: "I want complete freedom when I am young. I am not going to have a baby until I am 49 years old." There are several living witnesses who heard this strange remark. Recently this woman, now 49, gave birth to her first baby just as she planned. She is said to be planning to have another baby when she is 50.

MOSQUITOS

Where in this country are found the most aggressive mosquitoes? Some people say it is in Texas. Others claim it is New Jersey. However, some experts on the subject are now maintaining that the most aggressive, dangerous and irritating mosquitoes are found in New York City in the Boroughs of the Bronx, Brooklyn, Richmond and Queens. Manhattan is excepted. There are no mosquito breeding swamps in that borough. These New York City mosquitoes are being called "flying tigers." Their bite causes a very large swelling. At times as large as a marble.

Kerwin Is Victor In St. Nick Bout

NEW YORK, June 24 (AP)—Gale Kerwin, newcomer from Valley Stream, N.Y., tonight stopped favored Tony DiBiase of New York in 1:21 of the fifth round of a telecast fight at St. Nicholas Arena. DiBiase weighed 147½, Kerwin 142½.

Referee Mark Conn halted the scheduled 10 rounder after DiBiase had been cut over both eyes and had taken a severe drubbing in the fifth.

Kerwin, a native of Ottawa, Canada, started the 21-year-old New York University geology student on the way out at the end of the fourth when he floored Tony with a jolting left hook to the jaw.

It was the second straight defeat for DiBiase. He had an unbeaten streak of 19 until he lost to Jimmy Archer on May 13. Tony was the 11-5 favorite tonight.

Mrs. Maurice Glick of the Woodholme Country Club, who last week won the Baltimore city golf championship for the ninth time in 12 years, will compete for the Old Export Bowl in the seventh annual women's invitation tournament at the Cumberland Country Club, Thursday and Friday, it was announced last night by Mrs. G. Duke Snider with two home runs and slump-shackled Carl Furillo with a key pinch hit double and a home run shared six RBIs.

Erskine showed well, allowing two runs and just four hits in six innings. No Cardinals walked.

Hemmis Sets Third Record In Washington Hill Climb

Cumberland Cyclist Splits With Mitzell In Pennsy Pro Tests

Joseph W. Hemmis, Cumberland's professional motorcycle hill climbing ace, hung up a new record for the third time this year on Sunday when he drove his English Triumph to victory over Howard Mitzell, the York, Pa., veteran, in 4.90 seconds at Washington, Pa.

He bettered the previous mark of 5.02 which he established there in 1955. Mitzell had beaten Hemmis in the first of two pro events on the card—5.29 to 5.85 seconds with Earl Buck of Detroit third in 7.03 and Clarence Ickner, Columbus, Ohio, fourth in 8.31.

In the Class "A" finale, Mitzell's time was 5.07 seconds with Buck third (6.74) and Oakley Downey, Portland, Oregon, fourth in 7.34 seconds.

In previous meets this year, Hemmis hung up new records at York and Pittsburgh, Pa. Participating in 12 events in six meets, Hemmis now owns a record of five firsts, three seconds, two thirds and two fourths.

Mitzell and Hemmis head the national point scoring race for 1957.

Loes, Gardner Given Bonuses

Both Orioles Get Salary Increases

BALTIMORE, June 24 (INS)—The Baltimore Orioles today gave bonuses in the form of new contracts to pitcher Billy Loes and second baseman Billy Gardner and optioned third-baseman Brooks Robinson to San Antonio.

Loes, the former sore-armed righthander whom the Orioles bought from Brooklyn last season for a reported $30,000, got a new contract calling for a $1,000 increase in salary. He has become the sixth-place Orioles' leading pitcher with seven victories and only three defeats.

Gardner, who received a $500 boost, has played in every one of the Orioles' 64 games and has 24 runs batted in, more than any other American League leadoff hitter.

The Orioles reinstated Robinson to the active list and shipped him to San Antonio in the Texas League. Manager Paul Richards said he would be brought back up in about two weeks after sufficient time to get back into shape.

The 19-year-old rookie infielder tore a cartilage in the right knee on April 27 and was operated on May 4. He appeared in only nine games this season with a .200 batting average.

Hess Hurls Second No-Hitter; Gray's And Merchants Win

Gene Hess pitched his second no-hit game of the season and struck out 15 as Post Playground defeated Kelly-Springfield by the score of 6-1 at Post Field and tied Western Maryland Railway for second place in the Rec Softball League.

Kelly's lone run came in the first inning on a base on balls and an error.

Perdew, Malone and Moose shared six of Post's eight hits. Jack Eckard's relief pitching and the slugging of "Possum" Northcraft, who batted in five runs, featured the 10-7 victory of Gray's Tavern over Western Maryland at East Side.

Eckard relieved Nethken in the 5th and notched his third win against two losses. Northcraft collected a double and two singles and Morgan Ellsworth and Kenny Boggs had two hits each for the winners. Russell, Friend, Wetzel and Buckle obtained two hits apiece for the railroaders.

Jim Ketterman struck out eight and accounted for three of his team's 11 hits as the South End Merchants downed St. Luke's at Naval Reserve Field by the score of 10-7. Jim Leamon and Jim Paige blasted homers for the Merchants. Brinkman had three hits in four trips for St. Luke's.

Seek All-Star Berth July 9

NEW YORK, June 24 (INS)—Alvin Dark, the cagey veteran of the St. Louis Cardinals, and Cincinnati's fielding wizard Roy McMillan are waging a torrid battle to determine who will be the National League's starting shortstop in the all-star game.

The voting closes at midnight Thursday, June 27, for the All-Star classic which will be played July 9 in St. Louis' Busch Stadium.

Dark, to whom much of the credit has been given for the Cardinals' current position atop the National League, holds a slender 147-vote lead over the bespectacled McMillan, who won the berth in the 1956 dream game. The totals are 20,738 to 20,591.

Johnny Logan, shortstop of the Milwaukee Braves, still has an outside chance to oust the two leaders. Logan has 16,851 votes.

Stan "The Man" Musial of the Cardinals is the individual leader among all National Leaguers with 55,350 votes and is assured of opening at first base.

Following are the leaders for the eight positions, exclusive of pitchers who will be named by N.L. manager Walter Alston of Brooklyn:

Federal Judge Ryan Orders Dissolution Of I. B. C.

Norris, Wirtz Must Sell Their Stock In Garden

Decree Is Designed For Legitimate And Healthy Competition

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, June 24 (AP)—A federal judge today ordered dissolution of the International Boxing Club that has dominated pro boxing in recent years and ruled that Jim Norris and his partner, Arthur Wirtz, must sell their stock in Madison Square Garden.

The sweeping decree, read by Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan to a tense, quiet courtroom, was designed, he said, to reopen professional title contests to "legitimate and healthy competition."

In addition to ruling that the IBC of New York and Illinois be dissolved, Judge Ryan directed Norris and Wirtz to resign as Garden officers and directors within 30 days after July 1 and to get rid of all Garden stock within five years.

First reaction from Norris, president of the IBC and a director of the Garden and Chicago Stadium and both IBC corporation, was to await the advice of his lawyers. He said he did not know whether he would appeal.

May Stay In Boxing

"We will have to go over it with counsel to see what our next step will be," said Norris. He indicated whatever the decision of counsel might be, "I intend to stay in boxing."

Asked whether the decree would affect negotiations for Ray Robinson's defense of his middleweight title against welterweight champion Carmen Basilio, Norris said "I didn't think it will."

Judge Ryan, who on March 8 had found Norris, Wirtz and the IBC guilty of monopolizing the promotion of title fights, said "the divorce" (of Norris, Wirtz and the Garden) must be complete and irrevocable."

The final decree, effective July 1 enjoins Norris and Wirtz from holding any office in the Garden. Until the two IBC corporations are dissolved, the judge enjoined them from functioning in the promotion of championship contests.

The IBC runs two weekly television fight shows, Wednesday nights on ABC and Friday nights on NBC. Both shows recently were renewed for two years in multi-million-dollar contract deals.

In ruling that both IBC corporations be dissolved, Judge Ryan said they would be enjoined until dissolution from promoting championship contests.

Contracts Are Void

All exclusive contracts with champions and contenders were declared void by Judge Ryan in his decree and also all exclusive contracts with stadia other than those owned by the defendants.

Heavyweight Title Bout Is Confirmed

NEW YORK, June 24 (AP)—Floyd Patterson's manager confirmed today that the world heavyweight champion has signed to defend his crown for $250,000 against Olympic champion Pete Rademacher at Seattle the week of Aug. 19.

Rademacher, a balding, 28-year old former football player from Grandview, Wis., never has fought professionally.

The "unique, fantastic" match, as Patterson's manager, Gus D'Amato called it, is contingent on Patterson beating Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson at the New York Polo grounds, July 29.

Severe Storm Fails To Hit In District

'Warm And Humid' Predicted Today

Severe storms which were expected to hit Cumberland and area last night failed to materialize.

In a special advisory yesterday afternoon the Weather Bureau had forecast severe weather for Garrett and Allegany counties. A line of thunderstorms in Southern Ohio and northeastern Kentucky was expected to move eastward.

Scattered severe thunderstorms accompanied by locally damaging winds and surface hail up to one inch in diameter were expected, but didn't arrive.

State police reported no storms either east or west of the city and highways soon dried off after a shower in the afternoon.

No Sign Of Storms

Oakland reported very little rain with hardly any winds. The barometer was up and there were no indications of local storms approaching that area.

Pennsylvania and West Virginia State Police reported little or no rain in their areas yesterday.

Warm and humid weather with scattered showers and thunderstorms are predicted for Maryland this afternoon, according to the weatherman, who said the mercury is expected to rise into the 80s.

Nearby West Virginia is scheduled to have considerable cloudiness and not as warm, with a few showers likely and a high from 75 to 82. It is to be a little cooler this evening in that state.

Shower Cools City

Fair and pleasant weather preceded by a few showers in the east are forecast for Pennsylvania, where the temperature will go into the 70s.

Yesterday afternoon the sizzling weather was cooled off somewhat by a shower which fell about 3.45 p. m. The temperature dropped some 12 degrees during the storm.

The unofficial high temperature reading in Cumberland yesterday was 90 degrees, and by 9 p. m. the mercury had dropped to 78.

Couple Placed On Probation

A 22-year-old Cumberland man and a 15-year-old girl received suspended sentences yesterday in Juvenile Court after testimony in the hearing revealed the young couple had spent the night in an automobile on Oldtown Road last week.

Magistrate Fred H. Anderson sentenced Billy Eugene Davis of 633 Elm Street to one year in the Maryland House of Correction and then suspended the term, placing the youth on probation for one year.

The magistrate said he took into consideration several factors in suspending the sentence, noting that the youth had surrendered voluntarily to police and that a doctor's report indicated the girl had not been molested.

The girl was given a suspended sentence to Montrose School for Girls and the court complied with a request that she be allowed to visit Pittsburgh with her family. Magistrate Anderson said he would impose further terms for her probation upon her return to Cumberland.

A strict condition of both probationary terms is that neither is to have any contact whatsoever with the other, he said.

Millenson Heads Carnegie Club

George Millenson was elected president of Allegany Chapter, Dale Carnegie Club International, at a meeting held last week.

John F. Chisholm was elected vice president and Francis L. Werner and Anne B. Everline were re-elected treasurer and secretary, respectively.

Anthony J. Yockus is the retiring president, and Mr. Millenson served as vice president during the past year.

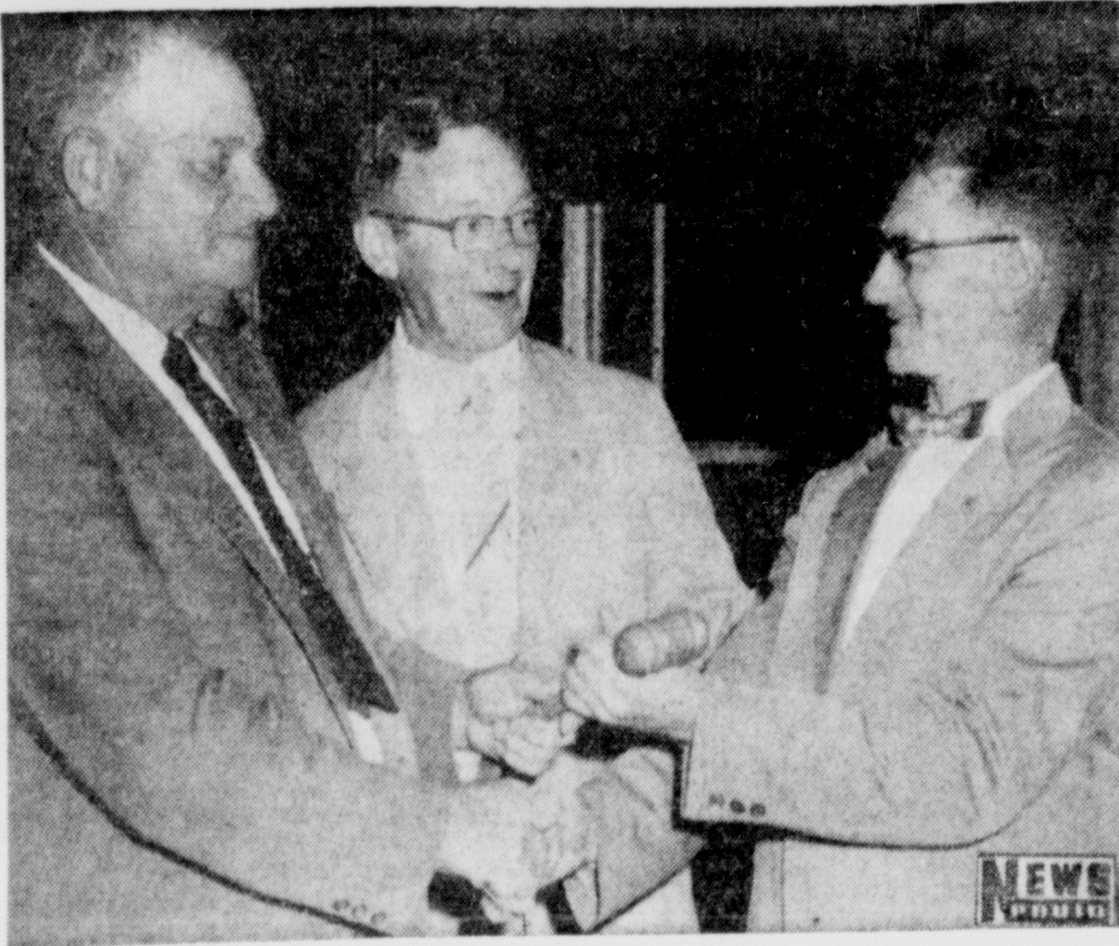

Plans are now being made for the local club to entertain John R. Singer, Irwin P., retiring governor of Division 13 of Dale Carnegie Club International, and Steve Trosan, Johnstown, Pa., governor-elect of the division of which Allegany Chapter is a member.

The club meets on second and fourth Fridays at 7:30 p. m. in Central YMCA.

Cumberland Optimists Meet Tomorrow

The Cumberland Optimist Club will meet at 6:15 tomorrow at Central YMCA.

Because the Fourth of July falls on Thursday this year, there will be no meeting Wednesday, July 3. The first meeting with the newly-installed officers will be held on Wednesday, July 10 and will be followed by a board meeting at the home of I. Newton Evans, president of the club.

Milk Grading Survey Starts In This Area

Farms And Plants Will Be Inspected

The Cumberland area dairy industry is being graded to see how well it complies with standards set by the United States Public Health Service.

The survey began yesterday in charge of Alexander A. Pais, milk supervisor for the State Health Department, assisted by J. B. Dowling and Harvey Shockley, of the Sanitation section of the Allegany County Health Department.

During the next two weeks, the public health workers will inspect representative farms from the some 380 farm producers who ship milk into the Cumberland area.

All of the eight milk processing plants and the three raw milk dairy plants will be inspected.

Each of the representative farm producers and all of the dairy plants will be graded according to the universally accepted standards set up by the Public Health Service.

Scores made during the survey will determine how well milk produced here will be accepted in other parts of Maryland and for interstate shipment.

Much Is Shipped

Much of the some 30,000 gallons of milk processed daily by Cumberland area dairies is not needed here and excess supplies are shipped, chiefly by tank truck, to metropolitan areas.

The grading is vital to such shipments, since most milksheds will not accept milk shipped from areas which have lower gradings than they themselves maintain for their own milk supplies are adequate.

Grades given during the survey, Mr. Dowling said, will be announced about July 1.

Children Escape Injury In Camp Bus Crackup

HANCOCK, Md., June 24 (P) — A school bus loaded with Baltimore children returning from camp skidded on Sideling Hill Mountain today and rammed into an embankment, but no one was injured.

The bus, owned by the Baltimore City Department of Education, was driven by Wallace McCoy of 1911 Boone St., Baltimore. It was eastbound toward Baltimore on U. S. 40 when it skidded during a rainstorm.

The rear end of the bus hit the embankment. About 10 of the 40 children aboard were examined by a doctor in Hancock, but they were only badly shaken.

The children were brought to the Fire Department here where they waited until another bus from Baltimore could pick them up.

The children, members of the Roosevelt Recreational Center in Baltimore, were on their way home from the New Germany Recreation Center in Garrett County.

Police, Fire Pay Boost Deferred

The Police and Firemen's Welfare Association met yesterday morning with the Mayor and Council to discuss a request for a wage increase for its members.

The delegation was told the request will be considered when the 1957-58 budget is being set.

It was pointed out that no answer could be given immediately, in view of a number of uncertainties.

They were told, a city spokesman said, that referendums are possible on plans to sell a $500,000 bond issue and to boost the tax limitation from $1.25 to $1.50.

If the referendums are held and voted down, it was explained, it would mean not only that a wage increase would be out, but that some necessary services would have to be cut.

Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, was present to brief the delegation on the current financial picture.

War Orphan VA Education Plan Is Outlined

50 Marylanders Already Enrolled

During the past school year, 50 sons and daughters of Maryland war veterans attended classes under the eight-month-old War Orphans Education program, according to W. L. Limburg, manager of the Veterans Administration Baltimore Regional office.

In a report to the local VA office in the Post Office Building, Benjamin Flack, local VA representative, was informed that the "War Orphan Education" program is just beginning to gain momentum. During the next school year, Mr. Limburg predicts these enrollments will be more than doubled.

The years ahead are expected to witness even greater increases as younger children of deceased veterans reach the legal age of War Orphan schooling. Generally, the program is limited to young men and women between 18 and 23 years of age.

At present, for example, an estimated 375 sons and daughters of Maryland war veterans who died of conditions caused by military service are 14 years of age. They will reach the eligible age for War Orphans education in another four years. And still another 900 are under 14. They will become eligible in later years.

Of the 50 Marylanders who attended classes in the past school year under this program, Mr. Limburg's analysis shows, nearly all enrolled in schools and universities. Below-college-level courses are allowed by law, he observed, so long as the young person is out of high school and wants to take below-college-level courses that will equip him for a definite vocational goal.

War Orphans education is available to the sons and daughters of World War II and Korean veterans who died of conditions caused by their military service. Young men and women may receive up to 36 months of education, with VA paying them an allowance of up to $110 for each month of schooling completed.

Full information on this program may be obtained from Mr. Flack at the VA office, third floor of the local Post Office building from 8 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. Monday through Friday.

Laborers Will Name Officers

Local 616, International Union of Hod Carriers and Laborers, will elect officers here Wednesday.

Balloting will be held from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m. in the Allegany Labor Temple.

Running for president of the Cumberland local are Charles Dye, Cecil Bridges, Harvey Wil and Charles McCullough.

Four members are seeking places on the three-man board of trustees. They are Patrick Skidmore, Robert Riley, Marion Beck and Peter Snyder.

Other officers, running unopposed, are Elmer Martin, vice president; Robert Kincaid, recording secretary; James Somerville, Charles Norris and William Scarpelli, Executive Board; William Meaders, sergeant at arms, and Robert T. Weaver, business agent and financial secretary-treasurer.

The regular meeting of the local will be held Thursday at 7:30 p. m.

Start Tennis Class

Thirty-two West Side youths enrolled yesterday morning at the Dingle courts for tennis instruction offered by the City Recreation Department. L. E. Van Sant, instructor, said the class will meet each Monday from 10 a. m. to noon.

Playgrounds Offer Varied Craft Study

A varied arts and crafts program will be offered on city playgrounds this summer, according to Mrs. Eva Hogan, general supervisor.

Instructors will be Miss Ann Gibson, for Area 1, and Mrs. Marian Wilson, for Area 2. They have set up the following schedule, with morning classes at 10 a. m. and afternoon instruction at 2 p. m.

Area 1 — West Side, Monday morning; Centre Street, Monday afternoon; Gephart, Tuesday morning; Pine Avenue, Tuesday afternoon; North End, Wednesday morning; Mt. Royal, Wednesday afternoon; Columbia Street, Thursday afternoon, and Ridgedale, Friday afternoon.

Area 2—Virginia Avenue, Monday afternoon; East Side, Tuesday morning; Mapleside, Tuesday afternoon; Penn Avenue, Wednesday morning; Lamont, Wednesday afternoon; Johnson Heights, Thursday afternoon and Post, Friday afternoon.

Offered will be a variety of clay work, including articles molded with sawdust clay, crepe paper clay and salt and flour clay.

Crafts making use of felt, pop-sicle sticks, scrap leather, bottle tops and eggshells will also be offered.

Basket weaving, weaving with jersey loops, glass etching, making of puppets with flannel and paper, and metal working will be included.

Postal Rate Hikes Slated On July 1

Increased rates on special delivery letters, postal money orders and registry and insurance of mail will go into effect on July 1, Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon Sr. announced yesterday.

The Cumberland Post Office has received the new set of rates from the Post Office Department.

Under the new rates the basic special delivery fee (for first class mail and air mail, up to two pounds) will be 30 cents instead of the present 20 cents. Rates for special delivery of other classes of mail and heavier mail also will be boosted.

New money order fees will include a jump to 15 cents from the present 10 cents for a domestic money order up to $5; to 20 cents from the present 15 cents for a money order of $5.01 to $10; and to 30 cents from the present 25 cents for an order amounting to $10.01 to $50.

Rates on registry and insurance of mail have been revamped so the lowest rate of registry will be 50 cents (instead of 30 cents) and the lowest bracket of insurance will be ten cents (instead of five cents).

Other increases cover special handling fees (25 cents for up to two pounds instead of the present 15 cents, for example), certified mail and restricted delivery of C.O.D.s.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield also has filed a petition with the Interstate Commerce Commission for increases in fourth-class (parcel post and catalogs) postage rates — which are set by the postmaster general subject to approval of the ICC.

W.Va. Police See Radar Meter Demonstration

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 24 (P)—The State Police board of officers watched a demonstration of radar equipment here today, but took no action on purchasing any for speed detection.

The last Legislature authorized the State Police to use radar, provided the police could find the money and wanted to do so. At present none of the State Police use radar in detecting speeding motorists.

The Electrofab Corporation of Indianapolis put on the demonstration near the statehouse. The company representative told Supt. Hazen Fair that the equipment is completely accurate in detecting speeds up to 50 miles an hour, and is no more than half a mile per hour off for higher speeds.

The scrapings, he explained, are not suitable for surfacing in alleys, but will keep the dust down in the parking lot.

Maryland Losing Aging Farm Orchards But Holds Its Own In Young Plantings

Maryland is losing numbers of its aging farm orchards but is holding its own in plantings and young bearing orchards of apples and peaches, according to a recently completed survey which compares tree numbers, according to variety, age and location of orchards for 1949 and 1956.

Possibilities of future apple production are good because almost half the trees are less than 12 years old and the great majority of these trees are of the better varieties. A report, Extension Publications 38 "Apples and Peaches in Maryland," has been issued jointly by the Department of Markets and the Maryland-Delaware Crop Reporting Service.

Judge Upholds Sentence On Motor Counts

Driver Faces Six Months In Jail

A six-months sentence in the Maryland House of Correction handed down recently by Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason for violation of two motor vehicle laws was upheld yesterday afternoon in Allegany County Circuit Court in a criminal appeals trial before Chief Judge George Henderson.

Appellant was William Paul Adams Jr., 322 Baltimore Avenue, who was arrested by local police on May 21 and charged with reckless driving and exceeding 70 miles per hour.

Magistrate Mason sentenced Adams to three months in the Maryland House of Correction on each count, with the sentences to run consecutively.

Yesterday Judge Henderson upheld the sentence. Adams has been lodged in the Allegany County jail since his trial at the magistrate's court.

According to testimony by police, Adams was recklessly driving his car over 70 miles an hour in South Cumberland and was arrested when the car turned over after he traveled across the Wiley Ford Bridge into West Virginia.

Police said they had been called to a Virginia Avenue business establishment where a disturbance reportedly had occurred. While police were parked in the patrol wagon on Virginia Avenue, they saw Adams' car traveling through the subway toward West Virginia at a high rate of speed.

Police said they gave chase, and took Adams into custody after he wrecked his car. Adams was represented by Edward J. Ryan, Paul M. Fletcher, state's attorney, presented the state's case.

Investigating police officers were E. P. Wilson and Donald Buser.

'Elmer' Wins Pigeon Race

One bird out of 48 entries from eight lofts completed the trip from Vincennes, Ind., in one day when the ninth old bird race of the Allegany Racing Pigeon Club was held recently.

Elmer, from the Town View loft of Galen Beeman, was the winner of the 500-mile race, the Captain J. J. McAttee Memorial. The same bird won the 1956 race.

Second-day birds were Frosty, Woodland loft of Irvin Buskirk; Green Light, Lost Loft, Dudley Shafer; Muscle Bound, Town View, Galen Beeman; Deep Freeze, Woodland Loft, Irvin Buskirk; Lady Luck, Dudley Shafer; Bow Tie, Excello Loft, M. M. Green, and Pole Sitter, MacArthur Loft, C. A. Smith.

In the contest for the best average speed MacArthur Loft of C. A. Smith had three first, one fourth, two fifth, one eighth and one 11th place, and captured the trophy with an average of 77.41.

The final race of the old bird series will be a special 600-mile race from St. Louis, Mo.

Street Planing Job Continues

Another stretch of downtown street was improved yesterday as heater-planing equipment smoothed the surface of Centre Street between Dexter Place and Bedford Street.

The equipment is scheduled today to work on Bedford Street, from Centre to Mechanic streets and then down North Centre to Baltimore Street.

Commissioner William H. Buchholz said the equipment will be here for about 10 more days.

Material scraped from the streets by the planer, he said, is being hauled to a downtown parking lot, which is reimbursing the city for labor costs in placing and rolling the scrapings.

Mr. Buchholz said the short haul means a savings to the city, since the excess material had to be hauled to the city dump last year.

The scrapings, he explained, are not suitable for surfacing in alleys, but will keep the dust down in the parking lot.

Court Gives Boy Lecture On Attitude

A 17-year-old Ridgeley, W. Va., boy was lectured on his indifferent attitude during a motor vehicle hearing yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court here, and the magistrate said he would recommend suspension of the boy's driving privileges.

Magistrate Donald W. Mason told James William Boyland Jr. that his attitude was "unlike any other boy's that has appeared before me. You seem to think that your mother and father will take care of any trouble you get involved in."

The magistrate fined young Boyland $35 and costs on two motor vehicle violations evolving from a hit-and-run accident Friday on Charles Street.

The boy pleaded guilty to reckless driving and to failure to stop after striking an unattended vehicle.

Magistrate Mason told him, "It wouldn't make any difference to you if the fine were $5 or $500. You feel your parents would pay it for you and you would be free again to do as you please."

The magistrate then told the boy he would recommend suspension of his driving privileges in Maryland "until you get a better attitude on things."

Boyland was arrested shortly after the accident by Officer James Morris of the City Police Department.

Teachers List NEA Convention Delegates

Robert C. MacMillan, 307 Jefferson Street, a commercial teacher at Mt. Savage High School is the state delegate from Allegany County to the centennial convention of the National Education Association in Philadelphia from June 30 to July 5.

County delegate representing the Allegany County Teachers Association is Earl F. Brain, 35 American Avenue, Frostburg. Mr. Brain is principal at Beall Elementary School. Mrs. Brain will accompany him to the convention.

From Garrett County, Mrs. Edwin Robeson, Star Route, Frostburg, will attend as the county's state delegate and she will be accompanied by her husband.

According to Milson C. Raver, executive secretary of the State Teachers Association, about 200 Marylanders are expected to attend the convention. Of this group, 137 teachers and school administrators will be official delegates.

The delegates will represent the teaching profession in Maryland at all meetings of the NEA's Representative Assembly, the official policy-making body, made up of educators from all 48 states and the territories.

A major concern this year, Mr. Raver said, will be the voting on a proposed expansion of dues and services of the national association to provide more effective leadership during the impending educational crisis brought on by rapidly increasing public school enrollments.

Convention activities will include exhibits, previews of educational films, and group discussions on such topics as "Automation and Modern Technology," "Locating and Challenging Gifted Students" and "Federal Support of Education."

Ridgeley Legion Meeting Tonight

The first meeting of the new executive board of Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion, will be held at the post home in Ridgeley this evening at 8 o'clock.

William Knieriem, post commander, urges all officers to attend.

Optimist Meeting Scheduled Today

Activity reports and plans for future activities will be discussed today when the Optimist Club of Bedford Road meets at the fire hall.

This will be the last meeting until Tuesday, July 23. The Optimists will meet only in the last two weeks of July and August.

Social Security Checks Exceed Half Million

Extended Coverage Is Economic Boost

After experiencing the greatest rush of applicants and inquiries in its 20 years of existence, the Social Security office in the Post Office Building is getting back to normal, according to James E. Robertson, district manager.

The major reason in addition to the number of young people seeking Social Security numbers and cards as they graduate from school, was the increase in claimants due to coverage being extended to self-employed farmers, the broadening of the disability program, and reduction of the eligible age of retirement for women.

Farm operators were first brought under Social Security at the beginning of 1955, and many already have or are now qualifying for old age benefits.

Many Claim Benefits

Disability benefits are payable to persons who have reached the age of 50 beginning July 1957. Many have filed for these payments, and women who elect to claim benefits at age 62 have been numerous.

Throughout the country, Mr. Robertson points out, each day 2,500 men and women who have reached or passed retirement age are awarded Social Security benefits. The total of all types of beneficiaries has just passed the 10 million mark. That means that just about one person in every 17 people in this country is now drawing a Social Security check.

"No matter what set of statistics is studied," Mr. Robertson said, "it is clear that Social Security affects nearly all of us directly or indirectly."

The local district office embraces two counties, Allegany and Garrett in Maryland, and four counties, Mineral, Grant, Hampshire and Hardy in West Virginia. The amount of "additional" benefits paid in these six counties during the first six months of this year is close to half a million dollars.

Distribution Shown

The extended coverage due to former eligibility, disability, and lower age requirement, in this six-months period has released the following additional Social Security money in the district:

Allegany County residents received a total of $175,883.82. Garrett County people were recipients of $58,213.20.

Hardy County distribution was $42,303.35. Mineral County accounted for $67,590.60. In Grant County checks delivered totaled $67,121.50. Hampshire county citizens accounted for $67,592.90.

All this money, Mr. Robertson noted, represents that much additional buying power or "payroll" in this area, and is an important factor in the economy of the area.

Furthermore, this sum is "additional" money. These figures do not include the current monthly payments awarded prior to January 1957, but are added funds based on an amended Social Security structure.

As a matter of fact, as of December 31, 1956, the latest tabulated figures available here, a total of $459,000 was being mailed each month to Social Security beneficiaries. The additional claims, now in force, bring this monthly distribution well past the half million dollar mark for the first time in the district.

Representing more than six million dollars annually, and still growing, Social Security checks in the area are now equivalent to the total annual payroll of a fair-sized industry.

Child, 8, Injured In Fall At Home

Dixie Ann Stewart, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stewart, 927 Maryland Avenue, was admitted to Memorial Hospital about 10 o'clock last night with a possible fractured skull.

Her parents said she fell over backwards while playing and struck her head on the concrete basement floor at her home.

Donald A. Rader, 20, of Route 1, Oldtown, suffered a severely lacerated middle finger of the right hand which he caught in a saw while sawing wood about 7:30 last night on Green Ridge Mountain. He was not admitted.
